

Tours for Teachers

Winter Workshop Series
February ~ March 2012

Find your fit. Explore schools.

Join us for a unique opportunity to learn how to incorporate exposure to different school environments with your interests, values, and skills in order to identify what type of teaching community is right for you. Each workshop will allow you to talk with school administrators, tour the school, have roundtable discussions with teaching staff, and participate in self-assessment resources. All workshops are open to current DePaul College of Education students. Registration is required for all tour workshops.

Note: You must complete a preparation worksheet prior to attending each workshop. Travel to and from sites is the responsibility of each participant. All sites (unless noted) are accessible by public transportation.

About Tours for Teachers

This workshop series widens a new teacher's perspective of what different public, private, and alternative settings can look like and how the mission and perspective of each type can support a deeper reflection of the job search and interview process for educators.
