DePaul Teacher's Forum

Saturday, October 23, 2010

10am to 1pm

LPC Student Center, Rm. 120AB

careercenter.depaul.edu/teachersforum

The DePaul Career Center's inaugural Teacher's Forum offers new teachers the opportunity to gain critical skills and resources and network with principals and professionals in education.

DePaul's Teacher's Forum will provide opportunities to:

- Gain exposure and insight through a keynote address led by a veteran educator
- Practice interviews with principals from local schools (space is limited)
- Participate in roundtable discussions led by administrators and educators
- Receive guidance on your resume and cover letter
- Network with fellow DePaul educator alumni about experiences

This one day event is designed specifically for DePaul School of Education students who will or have completed their student teaching experience and will be looking forward to their first year of teaching.

Don't miss this opportunity to prepare for your professional pursuits by learning about the field from the experts!
